Greeks Want Bases

Athens - Greece Friday told the United States and its other North Atlantic allies it will immediately reclaim sovereignty over all of its territory, including seven American military bases.

The effect of the action, triggered by Greece's disappointment over NATO's failure to stop the Turkish invasion of Cyprus, was not immediately clear. The Greek government stopped short of formally sending the bases packing.

The Greek government's earlier decision to pull its troops out of NATO left the future of the bases in limbo, but Friday's nôte, signed by Greek Premier Constantine Caramanlis, said only Greece is ready to start talking about the bases now. 'Shall Recover Territory'

Caramanlis told President Ford and 13 other presidents and premiers of NATO countries that Greece "shall recover forthwith over her entire territory full exercise of sovereignty heretofore limited on account of her participation in NATO." Since the United States is the only NATO country with bases in Greece, only U.S. forces were directly affected. But the note gives no details of Greece's eventual plans for the bases. Diplomatic sources in Athens said Greece and the United States could conceivably work out a

New tension gripped Cyprus on Friday after gunmen tried to assassinate Vasso Lyssarides, a Socialist party leader and adviser to the island's ousted president, Archbishop Makarios.

Slightly Wounded

Lyssarides, who is also a physician, was slightly wounded by shattered glass after 26 bullets tore into his car, killing the driver and a bystander on a Nicosia street.

Lyssarides blamed the attempt on EOKA-B, the underground army that helped Greek national guard officers overthrow Makarios.

A leaflet by EOKA-B scattered on Nicosia streets soon after the shooting denounced the assassination attempt, saying the group "had absolutely nothing to do with it."

Greek Cypriots, already overwhelmed by the Turkish army's capture of 40% of Cyprus, feared the ambush could spread into political violence like the bloodshed that accompanied the coup against Makarios July 15. The archbishop's ouster led to the Turkish invasion July 20.

The Greek military withdrawal will open up a gap in NATO's southeastern flank facing the Warsaw Pact's Balkan front and the Soviet Mediterranean fleet, although military men debate just how much real military impact that will have.

Many Can't Buy Unleaded Gas

By BOB GUENTHER Star Staff Writer

Roughly 22,200 Nebraskans presently cannot buy nonleaded gasoline in their counties, according to a survey by the State Fuel Allocation Office.

However, fuel allocation officials and an industry spokesman said they are not expecting major problems with the availability of nonleaded gas when 1975 model automobiles go on sale. Most 1975 model cars will require nonleaded gas to keep a new air pollution device, known as the catalytic converter, functioning properly.

'Plan Of Action' OKd By Population Confab

Che New York Simes'

Bucharest, Rumania - The two-week-long United Nations World Population Conference ended Friday by approving without further debate what it called a "Plan of Action."

The program -- running more than 10,000 words and containing 108 items - sets no national or international population goals, in terms of numbers of people. It suggests however, that with proper policies, individually formulated by nations, the world's present annual population growth rate of 2% could be substantially reduced by 1985.

The plan — mainly a declaration of principles and policies - stresses the integration of population policies with economic and socialdevelopment policies. It calls for female equality in all walks of life and suggests that the affluent

IRS Probing Phillips' Gifts

Bartlesville, Okla. (AP) - Phillips Petroleum Co. disclosed Friday night that it had contributed approximately $685,000 in corporate funds to political campaigns during the past 10

A Phillips spokesman also said the Internal Revenue Service was investigating the matter "to determine whether there may have been violations of the tax fraud and allied provisions" of the IRS code.

A Phillips spokesman issued a lengthy statement Friday night which said the contributions included an illegal $100,000 gift to the 1972 campaign of former President Richard M. Nixon, but the statement did not specify where the other $585,000 was dispersed.

nations reduce their consumption of world resources in the name of "international equity."

About 1,250 delegates from 135 nations, representing virtually the entire world, participated in the conference, the first global parley on population at the intergovernmental level.

The assemblage adopted the plan by acclamation as a "consensus" without a vote, but some nations reserved a right to differ on specific

The only explicit dissent from the document as a whole was voiced by the Holy See, whose chief representative, Msgr. Edouard Gagnon, said in a brief address after the action that his delegation was impelled to "disassociate" itself from the endorsement.

However, the president of the conference, Rumania's foreign minister, George Macovescu. said at a news conference after adjournment that since the Holy See had not raised a parliamentary objection when the question was put, he did not consider that it was "absent from the consensus." Msgr. Gagnon, president of the Vatican committee on the family, said that while his delegation concurred with much of the declaration, it could not endorse it because of its insufficient attention to family values and "respect for life," and its sanction of birth control. The plan was approved just a few minutes after Macovescu convened the final plenary session of the conference in the legislative auditorium of Rumania's Palace of the Republic at 10:50 a.m., local time. The plan skirts the fact that many demographers think the present global population growth rate threatens world resources and development of the less-advanced nations, a view that is hotly contested by some countries. It leaves the formulation of population policies up to individual nations, recognizing that some may want to agument rather than curb pop-

Blast Injures 300 In Tokyo

Tokyo - Police were working on the assumption Friday that leftist radicals were responsible for the explosion in Tokyo's major business district which killed seven persons and injured more than 300 by official count. They were searching for a 27- or 28-year-old driver of a gray sedan who ignored an officer's order to stop and sped through a traffic signal. Police said he pulled from the Mitsubishi Heavy Industries building shortly after the explosion and had a bloodied gray shirt in the car beside him. Mitsubishi, Japan's major defense contractor and munitions manufacturer, received a call at its Osaka office shortly after the blast, warning: "We'll conduct a class struggle tomorrow similar to what happened today in Tokyo."

Report Urges Deserters Get Conditional Amnesty

Washington (UPI) - The Pentagon, concluding that a have eligible draft evaders and "substantial majority of Americans" favor conditional amnesty for draft evaders and deserters, will recommend to President Ford that they reaffirm allegiance to the United States and work 18 months of alternate service, UPI learned Friday

UPI obtained a draft copy of the report to be submitted to Ford Saturday by Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger. It would cover 28,000 men which either left the United States to avoid the draft or deserted from the service.

Both Schlesinger and Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe were to meet with Ford and make recommendations. White House press secretary J. F. terHorst said Ford will make a decision in "a relatively short period."

In the draft, the Pentagon concludes that a "substantial majority of Americans favor some form of amnesty. Of that group, a majority favor conditional rather than blanket amnesty.

'Heal The Wounds' The draft argued that if any program for the return of Vietnam-era absentees, would "heal the wounds of the Vietnam conflicts, as large a majority of Americans as possible must view it as fair and just, considering both the objections to the nature of the war and the sacrifices of those who served."

The proposed program would pleted, the draft evaders would be eligible for dismissal of any civilian indictments against them and deserters could ask that a record of that alternate service be noted on the undesirable discharge which the Pentagon feels they must

the draft, asks that both the returning evader and the returning deserter "will execute a formal pledge for alternate service including a form of reaffirmation of allegiance to the United States."

The Defense Department suggests a three-member clemency board, created under the constitutionally established presidential pardon power. This board would have the authority to review, "controversial cases," subject to the President's final decision.

The administration was reportedly considering a plan to set up facilities to receive war resisters. When asked about the plan involving two Army bases in Indiana, a Pentagon spokesman replied, "several installations have been surveyed." He added no decisions will be made until Ford announces

U.S. Deserter Back In Canada

PEACE ARCH'INTERNATIONAL PARK (AP) -Accused U.S. Army deserter Ronald Anderson, arrested by U.S. customs agents on Canadian soil last Saturday, was returned to Canada Friday night.

Anderson was released from Fort Lewis military stockade earlier in the afternoon after a U.S. State Department official said Canada and the United States were in agreement on the facts of the incident.

Anderson, 31, a landed immigrant in Canada, was arrested on Canadian soil last Saturday as he and his wife, Marion, tried to enter the United States.

Enormous Radio Galaxy Is Found Strom said the gaseous radio components are New York Times News Summary LEYDEN, Netherlands (AP) - An international team of three young scientists working with Holland's Westerbork radio telescope said Friday they have discovered a celestial object six times greater than any previously known in the universe.

The astronomers, American Richard G. Strom, Canadian Anthony G. Willis and Englishman Andrew Wilson, describe the object as a radio galaxy 18 million light years in length and located 1.8 billion light years from earth. Code-named 3C236, the object is composed of an optical galaxy - a group of stars emitting visible light — at the center, with enormous radio components consisting of rarified gas spreading like giant propellor blades on either side.

Strom, 30, said one of the two radio sources of 3C236 is larger than the group of eight or 10 galaxies that includes our Milky Way. It is large enough to appear bigger in the sky than a full moon — if the eye could see it.

mainly protons and electrons moving at very high speed in a magnetic field. He said that the radio components are so large they could bump into a neighboring galaxy, but the gas is so rarified that if it ran into our own galaxy it would make no impression on the earth's atmosphere. "But we would have tremendous radio interference," Strom added. Present modern communications would be impossible. We'd have to put cables everywhere, or use light signals . . . "

Strom said it is difficult to estimate the age, explain the formation, or predict the future of 3C236 and the 30,000 other radio sources so far detected. Based on their data, however, the three scientists believe 3C236 to be at least 10 million years old, and probably 10 times that.

The three scientists are working under the auspices of Leyden's Foundation for Radio Astronomy.

CCIC Chairman Jack Thompson said the task force should have its report on possible merger of city and county law enforcement activities ready by Oct. 1. The other four CCIC members agreed to give the task force until then to submit its recommendations.

The question of Ackerman's removal was brought up by Hill Harding, chairman of the citizens committee.

Sales Tax Up; Later Dropped

Nebraska Tax Commissioner William E. Peters announced Friday that sales tax revenue was up 21.2% in April, but the increase dropped to 13.6% in May and 10.7% in June.

The sales tax revenues are considered an indicator of the strength of the state's economy.

Peters said earlier that the June figure would not reflect damage to the state's economy brought on by the drought. He said drought damage would begin to show up when the July and August sales tax figures were released.

Food Stamp Intent Defied

Along with the Rev. Robert Jeamby, chairman of the Lincoln Committee of Concerned People (LCCP), we tend to be suspicious of the motives of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in ordering, in' effect, that food stamps be cut off to the families and supporters of Wounded Knee trial defendants who are encamped at Lincoln's Arnold Heights.

As far as we know, followers of Indian defendants at other trial locations have been issued food stamps. The problem of non-compliance with strict federal regulations seems not to have arisen. But with a string of judicial decisions going against the government, Jeamby's suggestion that the USDA order was an attempt to force plea bargaining in the Wounded Knee trials may not be so far out in left

It should be noted that the USDA is certainly acting within the purview of its own regulations. The regulations relating to the qualifications of food stamp recipients are on the books and have been enforced before. But, it seems, somewhat selectively.

The real problem is that the regulations — such as those that require each family grouping, no matter how artificial it may be, to apply for food stamps, or that require individual rather than communal cooking facilities or that require third party verification of the financial status of applicants - defy the spirit of food stamp legislation.

The intent of the food stamp program, as we see it, is simply to help hungry people who are too poor to adequately feed themselves. Regulations which do not recognize the reality of poverty existence or the special circumstances of such as the Wounded Knee trial encampment in Lincoln result either in hungry people not being fed or in people bending the regulations to suit their predicament and thus being classified as cheaters.

It has become a general rule that when poor people or unpopular political causes are involved, the full spool of sticky government red tape will be unwound to complicate and frustrate the situation.

Sign Battle Counterattack

It may be as futile as whipping a dead horse, but the State of Nebraska has confirmed that it will pursue a lawsuit asserting its right to erect tourist attraction signs along Interstate 80.

The state earlier this summer lost in federal court when U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom denied a request for an order restraining the Federal Highway Administration from cutting off money to Nebraska if the signs remained in place. In July, Gov. Exon reluctantly ordered the 42 signs, which cost $100,000, removed and placed in storage. End of experiment.

But now the state attorney general's office, contending that the Federal Highway Administration's action was arbitrary and capricious, says it will take the case to the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals with the position that the federal government overstepped its authority and infringed on states' rights.

Special Assistant Attorney General Gary Welch said that a ruling in the Nebraska case could set some clear guidelines governing the erection of information signs along the entire U.S. interstate system.

We don't expect a major breakthrough for states rights advocates. But it would be of no small interest to read a judicial decision on the peripheral question of why similar signs are allowed along the interstate system in some other states, but not in Nebraska.

It still puzzles us why the federal government insists that the Nebraska tourist attraction signs - which are esthetically pleasing, economically beneficial and helpful to tourists - have no place on the roadway.

Ford On Ethics

WASHINGTON - In his speech to Congress and again in his news conference, President Ford failed to provide leadership in behalf of the reforms needed to prevent a future Watergate scandal.

Leadership is urgently needed. In the very week that Richard Nixon was being driven from office, a majority of the House of Representatives had the audacity to defeat campaign

The House did okay the part of the bill that provides for the public financing of presidential campaigns, and that was a substantial gain. But when it came to reforming the way in which their own campaigns are paid for, a majority of the members of the House had the effrontery to stick with the present corrupt system. They voted 228 to 187 against the plan offered by Reps. John Anderson, R.-Ill., and Morris Udali, D.-Ariz., to provide matching public and private funds for House and Senate races.

Addressing Congress on Aug. 12, Ford failed to speak out for campaign reform. Instead he said: "On the higher plane of public morality, there is no need for me to preach tonight. We have thousands of far better preachers and millions of sacred scriptures to guide us on the path of personal right-living and exemplary official conduct.

"If we can make effective and earlier use of the moral and ethical wisdom of the centuries in today's complex society, we will prevent more crime and corruption than all the policemen and prosecutors and governments can ever deter.

"This is a job that must begin at home, not

These remarks were greeted with wild applause. Many members of Congress regard ethics as "expletive deleted." They are easer to get back to regular drinking with lobbyists, taking their $5,000 checks from the oil industry or from A.F.L.-C.LO.'s COPE and running their affairs in the comfortable private way they always have before Richard Nixon messed up and caused the searchlights to be turned on.

They were delighted to hear the President imply that there is nothing they need do to prevent future scandals because it "is a job that must begin at home, not in Washington," But if we seriously apply that theory to the Watergate scandal, we end up ascribing the blame for Watergate to Richard Nixon's mother or Charles Colson's grandmother. Does not this lidicrous conclusion suggest that there is something faulty with the President's theory?

Ford's difficulty is that he is beguiled by the ancient half-truth that men cannot legislate morality. Ethical behavior, it is often said, has to derive from the individual conscience of each of us and consciences are formed early in life, mostly in the home. That is true but it is not the whole truth.

Society through its laws and customs establishes the context in which men and women make their ethical choices.  $\Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow$

With regard to racial segregation, the same half-truth was often heard. Racial progress could only come from changing the hearts and minds of men, a slow undertaking indeed. But then Congress passed the Civil Rights Laws of 1964 and 1965. Once racial discrimination became a matter of breaking a federal law, many persons chose not to act in a discriminatory fashion, regardless of what they privately thought and felt. Few now doubt that those civil rights laws are a formative ethical influcence in our society.

Once the nation adopted the financing of political campaigns predominantly from public funds, the existing system in which politicians pay their campaign expenses by the brokering of votes and favors to private interest groups would soon seem as primitive and inherently wrong as segregation or child labor now does.

Ford cannot take all the responsibility for government ethics upon himself. Asked twice about post-Watergate ethics at his news conference, the President stressed his openness, his opposition to wiretapping, his own decent standards.

"The code of ethics . . . will be the example I set," he declared. That would suffice if he were the leader of a cub scout pack. But a complex society needs laws and clear guidelines.

in addition to campaign reform and full financial disclosure, the President could come to the aid of Sen. Lowell Weicker, Connecticut Republican, in his effort to get law written strictly limiting access to income tax returns. He could seek legislation requiring government agencies to make their meetings and their records open to the press and the public in the manner of Flordia's "Sunshine Government" law. Except for a few military secrets, no public document should be classified.

Ford could ask Congress to exact a law requiring that members of independent regulatory commissions be as circumspect as federal judges in avoiding ex parte contacts with the industries they regulate or with congressmen fronting for those industries.

One good man can make a difference, but one man by himself cannot do the job. Good men need good laws and good rules to translate their personal decency into a lasting rise in the level of society's ethical behavior.

Can Democracy Survive Inflation?

LONDON — It seems an extreme and even silly question to be asked in Britain, of all places, but actually it is being asked and discussed here by serious men and women: Can democracy long survive the present rate of inflation?

The answer in many other countries is that it cannot, but the bet here is that in Britain it can and will. Nevertheless, the fact that this nation of amiable grumblers is even talking about the possibility of undemocratic means of controlling inflation, forming private vigilante armies to break strikes and keep essential services going, is, as the British say, a little odd.

The inflation rate in Britain is now about 20% a year. Unemployment rose in July by 89,526, the largest monthly increase since 1948, and now stands at over 650,000. In the confusion of a littery stock market, the prices of securities fell in August to the lowest point in 16 years, and more important back in the kitchen, people were running out of sugar for their tea.

Meanwhile, wages were chasing prices up the scale. Basic weekly wages rose at a record rate in July and were up over 18% from a year ago, but consumer prices were up 20%. Thus the ominous question: How long can this go on without crippling the economy, pricing British goods out of the world market, producing industrial strikes and class tension, and forcing government action to limit the traditional liberties of the British in London is that the situation is serious but not all that critical. The chancellor of the exchequer, Denis Healey, speaks of bringing the inflation down to about 12% by the end of next year, but most other projections are more pessimistic. The London Business School's latest forecast, by James Ball and Terry Burns, is that in the absence of some new and effective prices and wages policy, consumer prices will rise another 20% in 1975 and unemployment will reach a million by the winter of 1975-76.

Anything close to another 20% rise in prices and a million un-employed in the winter of 1975-76 would, officials here agree, create an acute crisis, and compel any government in power to introduce compulsory controls, which the unions unanimously

We are like mountain climbers walking along a narrow ledge in a high wind," one cabinet member observed privately here the other day. "We may make it and we may not." Bernard Levin, surveying in the Herald-Tribune what has happened in Birtain over the last eight years, observes that what was unthinkable here eight years ago was now not only a part of the thought but of the daily life of the nation. No government of whatever political complexion, he observed, certainly no democratic government, can now rule without the cooperation of the unions, nor pass legislation that can be carried out against the will of the unions. Britain has now accepted this, as it accepts what is a civil war in Ulster, as a normal condition of life. "I suppose," Levin said, "that that is, in essence, the fundamental change that has taken place in Britain." He defined the change as follows: 'From our collapsing postal and telephone system to our ever-increasing inflation . . . from frequent traffic jams to permanent traffic jams, from political and industrial violence as an exceptional and newsworthy occurrence to the same things as a lurid and apparently permanent backdrop to our lives. "From — this above all — absolute certainty that whatever else died or changed, our democratic institutions would remain basically the same whatever happened, to a state of affairs in which talk of dictatorships of the right or the left is the common parlance of the day. That is the kind of journey on which Britain has gone in the last eight years . . . "

This is more extreme than anything else this reporter has heard in Britain, but the mood is solemn. The chief secretary to the treasury, Joel Barnett, felt obliged to announce the other day that the greatest danger facing the country was panic. The economic situation, he said, is serious but not "catastrophic." The government likewise has felt obliged to take note of two vigilante groups now organizing to deal with political and industrial chaos if it comes. Gen. Sir Walter Walker, former NATO commander in chief in Northern Europe, stated the objective of both organizations: 'We are not going to sit and watch these political bully boys, these trade union communists and fascists and those wretched young anarchists bring Britain to her knees." he told the Daily Telegraph. The politicians haven't got the fire in their bellies to tackle the problem. So it is up to us, the people of this land . . . to prepare for action ourselves." The British defense minister, Roy Mason, described this as

"blimpish bull" and condemned the vigilante organizations for "anti-democratic endeavors to exert their extreme views beyond and outside our recognized democratic and parliamentary procedures," and it is against all this extreme rhetoric and alarming economic arithmetic that the British will go to the polls in the second national election in seven months.

On the surface, the election question will be who can control the inflation, but under the surface, who can get cooperation of the unions to avoid indistrial chaos. British democracy is probably not at stake in this conflict over how to control inflation, but for the moment nobody is quite sure, and that is something new in this troubled island.

Food Stamp Intent Defied

Along with the Rev. Robert Jeamby, chairman of the Lincoln Committee of Concerned People (LCCP), we tend to be suspicious of the motives of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in ordering, in' effect, that food stamps be cut off to the families and supporters of Wounded Knee trial defendants who are encamped at Lincoln's Arnold Heights.

As far as we know, followers of Indian defendants at other trial locations have been issued food stamps. The problem of non-compliance with strict federal regulations seems not to have arisen. But with a string of judicial decisions going against the government, Jeamby's suggestion that the USDA order was an attempt to force plea bargaining in the Wounded Knee trials may not be so far out in left

It should be noted that the USDA is certainly acting within the purview of its own regulations. The regulations relating to the qualifications of food stamp recipients are on the books and have been enforced before. But, it seems, somewhat selectively.

The real problem is that the regulations — such as those that require each family grouping, no matter how artificial it may be, to apply for food stamps, or that require individual rather than communal cooking facilities or that require third party verification of the financial status of applicants - defy the spirit of food stamp legislation.

The intent of the food stamp program, as we see it, is simply to help hungry people who are too poor to adequately feed themselves. Regulations which do not recognize the reality of poverty existence or the special circumstances of such as the Wounded Knee trial encampment in Lincoln result either in hungry people not being fed or in people bending the regulations to suit their predicament and thus being classified as cheaters.

It has become a general rule that when poor people or unpopular political causes are involved, the full spool of sticky government red tape will be unwound to complicate and frustrate the situation.

Sign Battle Counterattack

It may be as futile as whipping a dead horse, but the State of Nebraska has confirmed that it will pursue a lawsuit asserting its right to erect tourist attraction signs along Interstate 80.

The state earlier this summer lost in federal court when U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom denied a request for an order restraining the Federal Highway Administration from cutting off money to Nebraska if the signs remained in place. In July, Gov. Exon reluctantly ordered the 42 signs, which cost $100,000, removed and placed in storage. End of experiment.

But now the state attorney general's office, contending that the Federal Highway Administration's action was arbitrary and capricious, says it will take the case to the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals with the position that the federal government overstepped its authority and infringed on states' rights.

Special Assistant Attorney General Gary Welch said that a ruling in the Nebraska case could set some clear guidelines governing the erection of information signs along the entire U.S. interstate system.

We don't expect a major breakthrough for states rights advocates. But it would be of no small interest to read a judicial decision on the peripheral question of why similar signs are allowed along the interstate system in some other states, but not in Nebraska.

It still puzzles us why the federal government insists that the Nebraska tourist attraction signs - which are esthetically pleasing, economically beneficial and helpful to tourists — have no place on the roadway.

After graduation at Rutgers in 1919. Robeson enrolled at Columbia University and earned his LL. B., financing his law studies by playing professional football.

He joined a New York law firm but soon abandoned a legal career. Robeson had appeared in amateur productions at Columbia and in 1922 accepted a role in New York play, "Taboo." After that he appeared in "Emperor Jones" in New York and London and was an instant success. He gave up law.

Over the next 20 years, Robeson appeared on the stage, in movies, on radio and became a recording star. He played Othello at Stratford-on-Avon in England, and numbered among his many movie credits are roles in 'Showboat," "King Solomon's Mines" and "Emperor Jones."

His concerts took him all over the United States and Europe. Robeson probably is best remembered for his moving rendition of "Ol' Man River." But he sang all kinds of folk songs and Negro spirituals with equal

He made frequent trips to the Soviet Union, praising the equality and sense of dignity he said he found there. At the same time, he criticized his homeland, calling it on one occasion "an insolent, dominating America."

During the cold war, Robeson's views came under violent criticism. He was called before the House Committee on Un-American Activities and identified as a "Communist sympathizer."

He was picketed at practically every performance.

Even so, Robeson did not waver in his views. In 1952, he accepted the Stalin Peace Prize from the Soviet Union.

* * * Robeson and his wife, whom he married in 1921, began a selfimposed European exile in 1958, returning to the United States in 1963. She died in 1965, ending their 44-year marriage. Back home, Robeson softened his critical views of America. He retired to Enfield, Conn., and in 1973, 10 years after his return from exile, 3,000 persons jammed Carnegie Hall in a

Entertainment At A Glance

To assist area residents in keeping abreast of current and future entertainment and cultural events. The Lincoln Star again has compiled a listing of functions which will be presented in the Lincoln-Omaha area through December.

Although the calendar is not a review of all entertainment activities, its purpose is to highlight the major events taking place in the next four months.

In addition, the Star's weekly "Footlight and Canvas" column will supplement the calendar with a week-byweek schedule of these and other area activities as they occur.

Entertainment At A Glance

To assist area residents in keeping abreast of current and future entertainment and cultural events, The Lincoln Star again has compiled a listing of functions which will be presented in the Lincoln-Omaha area through December.

Although the calendar is not a review of all entertainment activities, its purpose is to highlight the major events taking place in the next four months.

In addition, the Star's weekly "Footlight and Canvas" column will supplement the calendar with a week-byweek schedule of these and other area activities as they occur.

By The Associated Press The University of Nebraska-Lincoln said Friday 4.500 students were found eligible for a total of $4,164,000 in financial aid this fall.

NU had received 7,079 requests for financial help, according to Jack Ritchie, director of the student aid office.

Ritchie said part-time work is the largest supplement to parent support in financing college education at NU. He estimated that more than half of the university's 20,000 students have at least one part-time job.

18 wonderful years," writes Mrs. Ray E. Sage of Sierra Madre, Calif. "He retired when he was 59 and I was 54. All his friends who worked until they were 65 are gone now so we're glad we retired when we did.

'We're just an average couple in a six-room house on a half acre of land that needs regular tending. He has a workshop where he tinkers, and I write articles for free for the editor of our local paper. We have a travel trailer and often take short trips. And we're friends with most of the retirees in town.

"We think the important thing for marital harmony is genuine enjoyment in each other's company, and similar ideas on religion, politics, food, entertainment, smoking and drinking. "My husband never gets in the way of the vacuum cleaner and he's usually the one running it. He doesn't mind household chores, and I do the things he hates - keeping health insurance records, figuring out the income tax, paying bills, and balancing the checkbook.

"We both agree every retired husband should be a good cook and grocery shopper, and able to run household gadgets such as juicers, meat grinders and automatic washers. Most oldsters have spells of illness and if a husband can't cook and manage a little when his wife is ill it's pitiful.

"Folks may have liked a big bed or twin beds before. But after retirement, believe me, they prefer separate rooms. This way they can read in bed or watch TV without disturbing the other.

"We're old now and will soon reach our golden wedding anniversary. And I'm pleased to say I'd still rather spend an evening with my husband at home than anything else the world offers. If the hereafter promises nothing more than going hand and hand with him into the uncertain blue yonder, I'll be quite content."

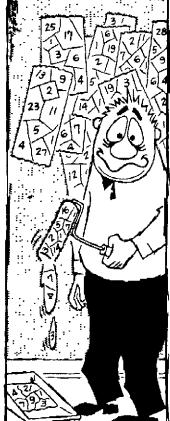

It's great when couples are as companionable and affectionate as the Sages. Unfortunately, millions of older people are less fortunate. Many of them must endure marriage relationships which are strained and irritating. Others have lost their partners through divorce or death and necessarily spend a good bit of their time bemoaning their fate, reveling in the past, or wishing for things which can never be.

Those with living arrangements less satisfying than those enjoyed by the Sages must learn to cope. If they're unhappy with present marital situation, they should seek professional counsel. And if they're alone and lonely, they must join groups which may pave the way to new relationships.

EASERWITHOUT THE NET

Why do we enjoy games that make it harder on us? We equip our tennis courts with nets. We line our golf courses with narrow fairways and dot them with sand traps. On a chess board we grant wide movement to only one piece, the queen. In football a team has but four downs to gain the required yardage.

This is because man at his best is innately honest. He demands that his every skill meet reasonable tests. He's convinced there is no satisfaction—no "fun"—without challenges.

Man's religious awareness, which inspires our weekly worship, continually cultivates that innate honesty. Our Christian faith prompts us to develop divine resources of character and commitment. Far more than any game, LIFE tests strength and weakness, rewards achievement not failure.

By The Associated Press The University of Nebraska-Lincoln said Friday 4,500 students were found eligible for a total of $4,164,000 in financial aid this fall.

NU had received 7,079 requests for financial help, according to Jack Ritchie, director of the student aid office.

Ritchie said part-time work is the largest supplement to parent support in financing college education at NU. He estimated that more than half of the university's 20,000 students have at least one part-time job.

"This is the first time in years that we have been able to meet

what we determined to be the year through the office of $1,200,000 in national direct stuentire need of our eligible scholarships and financial aids, students, "Ritchie said. which places students in off-"Tremendous cooperation from departments throughout the university made this possible." Example Cited

An an example, he cited the office of university housing which operates NU residence

Students working in the residence halls will earn more than $500,000 during the 1974-75 school year, according to housing director Richard C. Armstrong.

In addition, more than 1,200

campus jobs.

"This is the first time in years that we have been able to meet what we determined to be the entire need of our eligible students," Ritichie said.

Aid packages

Financial aid packages offered students this year included federally-assisted work-story employment and other on campus jobs totaling more than $1.3 million.

Other assistance included in part-time jobs were filled last the financial packages showed dent loans; $300,000 in supplemental educational opportunity grants; $800,000 in institutional scholarships and $500,000 in basic educational opportunity grants.

"Students also make their own arrangements for financial aid," says Ritchie. "Although we have no exact accounting, we know that a large number attending the university have obtained federal insured loans, many are being assisted by the G. I bill and others receive Social Security benefits. This is in addition to those who find their own employment."

Why do we enjoy games that make it harder on us? We equip our tennis courts with nets. We line our golf courses with narrow fairways and dot them with sand traps. On a chess board we grant wide movement to only one piece, the queen. In football a team has but four downs to gain the required yardage.

This is because man at his best is innately honest. He demands that his every skill meet reasonable tests. He's convinced there is no satisfaction—no "fun"—without challenges.

Man's religious awareness, which inspires our weekly worship, continually cultivates that innate honesty. Our Christian faith prompts us to develop divine resources of character and commitment. Far more than any game, LIFE tests strength and weakness, rewards achievement not failure.

Quality Bluegrass Sodding Landscaping-Walt Bullock

By ERIC KRAMER Associated Press Writer

When the federal government stopped paying farmers to leave 17 million acres of land idle. there was an increase in production of only eight million acres, according to a report released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Department officials say bad weather, fuel shortages and falling crop prices are among reasons not all of the land was put into use.

During 1973, the federal government paid farmers not to grow wheat and feed grains on 16.79 million acres of land, according to the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ser-

Then federal farm policies changed as food surpluses declined and foreign demands dropped. Last fall, the government called upon farmers to push for full production by planting more acreage. The set aside payments were dropped.

The department's July crop production report indicates that farmers responded to that call by planting 8.23 million more acres than they planted in 1973.

Rudy Wagner, a statistician for the USDA in Lincoln, said the figures indicated the government had been paying farmers not to use land that could not be used profitably for crop production. But he was quick to offer other reasons for the statistical discrepancy.

He said crop prices were falling in the early spring when farmers were getting ready to plant. He added that fertilizer and fuel were in short supply and prices were rising rapidly.

Large applications of fertilizer are needed to return land to production. Also, bad weather can prevent farmers from planting all their acreage.

Farm subsidies have been in controversy for years and scattered abuses have been found, but 1974 was the first year farmers themselves were allowed to show how much of the set aside land they considered worth planting.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced that the USDA will again ask for full production in 1975 and pay for no set aside.

Ray Peterson, a Lincoln resident and former Fonda, Iowa, farmer, said the set aside program encouraged farmers to plant a crop on very marginal farm land. After taking a loss on the first crop, the farmers would place the land in the set aside program, he said.

The set aside program was established by the Agricultural Act of 1970.

In 1972, there were 61.5 million acres idled under the program, compared with more than 300 million acres of crops planted nationally. Of major crops cotton land accounted for 2 million acres, wheat 20.1 million and feed grain 36.6 million acres. Payments included $1.845 billion for feed grains, $856 million for wheat and $813 million for cotton.

made, the USDA would then decide how much to have idle. Each participating farmer was told how much of his land he should not farm. The program was designed so that usable crop land would be idle in an attempt to avoid a grain surplus which would force prices down.

Wagner said that farmers had an economic incentive to set aside their least valuable land. He said a farmer is out to make money "just like a businessman.'

At the Agriculture Department in Washington, an official agreed that shortages and higher prices for fuel and fertilizer probably deterred many farmers from planting marginal land for 1974

Glenn A. Weir, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said a rule of the agency required farmers to put "average quality" land into the set aside program when it required idled acres in previous force and that some marginal land probably was taken from crop production in the past in return for government subsidies.

the weather is just right, be highly productive another." Weir said removal of set aside requirements for 1975 might, in some cases, result in even more border-line acreage being kept from crop production because of rising operating costs. He said this might happen particularly in places where non-grain crops could be grown on poorer exchange. The law, however, does not require farmers to participate in the program.

Paul Sindt, director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service in Nebraska, said Friday that the ASCS would serve as a clearing house to help alleviate cattle feed shortages caused by the drought.

Sindt said that the ASCS would make a list of farmers with surplus cattle feed. He said they would also develop a list of cattle owners who need feed.

He said details of the program have not been worked out and would eventually be released by the University of Nebraska extension service when the plan was ready to go into effect.

Slide Ends In Market New York (AP) — The stock

market broke free from the grip of a three-week slide with a vigorous technical rally Friday, recouping some of the ground it had lost in its worst month of

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rebounded 21.74 to 678.58 for its best gain since Aug. 7, when it jumped 23.78 on the eve of Richard M. Nixon's resignation as president.

Friday's advance trimmed the Dow's loss for August to 78.85, but it was still the poorest monthly showing by the widely watched indicator since last November.

In that 30-day span, the average tumbled 144 points as the nation confronted the energy crisis. There were 1,116 gainers and only 338 losers among the 1,777 issues changing hands on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume was a relatively active total of 16.23 million shares. Analysts said the market had been poised for an upward bounce after the steady pounding that had chopped 140 points from the Dow since the Aug. 7 "The market had had such a drastic drop in such a short space of time it was due for a rebound," said Eldon A. Grimm at Birr, Wilson & Co.

The spark to set it off, it one was needed, came from a collection of signs that seemed to be pointing to an easing of tight money pressures.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve's weekly report on credit conditions showed that the growth of the money supply had been slowing lately — the result that the Fed's restrictive policy is aiming for.

Yields on an important short term money market instrument, Treasury bills, meanwhile pulled back considerably. And there were published reports Friday morning that the Fed had chosen to ease up a notch on the credit reins with an eye to averting any serious economic slump in the months ahead.

Pan American World Airways, the NYSE volume leader for the third straight day, was up 1/8 at 21/s in trading that included a 250,000-share block at 2.

Glamour growth issues, significant losers in the recent slide, bounced back with broad gains. Eastman Kodak rose 41/8 to 801/8, for example, Burroughs added 4¼ to 81%, Merck & Co. was up 3 at 63½, and Johnson and Johnson gained 4 to 85%.

But many other sectors of the market shared in the advance. Getty Oil, up 7 at 110, and Atlantic Richfield, ahead 2% at 81¼, led a broad gain in the oils.

General Motors rebounded 23% 40%, and Ford Motor was up 21/2 at 39% among the autos.

In the transportation sector. TWA was up 1% at 7%, and Delta Airlines rose 1% to 36%. Magnavox, target of an $8-ashare tender offer by North American Philips, was up 21/4 at

The NYSE composite index surged 1.08 to 37.70.

On the American Stock Exchange, Syntex climbed 2¾ to 37% with the help of a bright quarterly earnings report.

The Amex market-value index jumped 1.25 to 70.28.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market rose an even 1.00 to 62.37.

Commodities Mostly Lower

Chicago (AP) - Farm commodity futures were under liquidation most of the day, despite a bullish export commitments report, and closed generally lower on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

There was a flurry of buying power on the opening but, except for the wheat pit, it dissappeared within minutes. Late in the session, some support came into the oats pit and this commodity closed higher.

Farmers Still Not Using Markets...Business All Former Idle Acres

Associated Press Writer

When the federal government stopped paying farmers to leave 17 million acres of land idle. there was an increase in production of only eight million acres, according to a report released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Department officials say bad weather, fuel shortages and falling crop prices are among reasons not all of the land was put into use. During 1973, the federal government paid farmers not to grow wheat and feed grains on 16.79 million acres of land, according to the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Ser-

Then federal farm policies changed as food surpluses declined and foreign demands dropped. Last fall, the government called upon farmers to push for full production by planting more acreage. The set aside payments were dropped.

The department's July crop production report indicates that farmers responded to that call by planting 8.23 million more acres than they planted in 1973.

Rudy Wagner, a statistician for the USDA in Lincoln, said the figures indicated the government had been paying farmers not to use land that could not be used profitably for crop production. But he was quick to offer other reasons for the statistical discrepancy.

He said crop prices were falling in the early spring when farmers were getting ready to plant. He added that fertilizer and fuel were in short supply and prices were rising rapidly.

Large applications of fertilizer are needed to return land to production. Also, bad weather can prevent farmers from planting all their acreage.

Farm subsidies have been in controversy for years and scattered abuses have been found, but 1974 was the first year farmers themselves were allowed to show how much of the set aside land they considered worth planting.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced that the USDA will again ask for full production in 1975 and pay for no set aside.

Ray Peterson, a Lincoln resident and former Fonda, Iowa, farmer, said the set aside program encouraged farmers to plant a crop on very marginal farm land. After taking a loss on the first crop, the farmers would place the land in the set aside program, he said.

Library's Workmen

The set aside program was established by the Agricultural Act of 1970.

In 1972, there were 61.5 million acres idled under the program, compared with more than 300 million acres of crops planted nationally. Of major crops cotton land accounted for 2 million acres, wheat 20.1 million and feed grain 36.6 million acres. Payments included $1.845 billion for feed grains, $856 million for wheat and $813

Each year that nongrowing payments were made, the USDA would then decide how much to have idle. Each participating farmer was told how much of his land he should not farm. The program was designed so that usable crop land would be idle in an attempt to avoid a grain surplus which would force prices down.

centive to set aside their least valuable land. He said a farmer is out to make money "just like a

At the Agriculture Department in Washington. an official agreed that shortages and higher prices for fuel and fertilizer probably deterred many farmers from planting marginal land for 1974

Glenn A. Weir, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said a rule of the agency required farmers to put "average quality" land into the set aside program when it required idled acres in previous

But Weir admitted the rule was difficult to enforce and that some marginal land probably was taken from crop production in the past in return for government subsidies.

"You really can't prove or disprove this," Weir said. "What is marginal land one year may, when the weather is just right, be highly productive

Weir said removal of set aside requirements for 1975 might, in some cases, result in even more border-line acreage being kept from crop produc-

Electric Union Head Against New Contract

Omaha (AP) — The president of the union striking the Western Electric Works here since Aug. 4 said he will recommend a new company contract proposal be rejected.

Michael Quinlan, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Local 1974, said Thursday he is confident his local will turn down the proposal because it is inadequate.

Union members will meet at 2 p.m. Monday at Millard High School to vote on the offer. The union has 5,000 members.

The IBEW negotiating committee in Washington voted 9-8 to take the latest offer to the membership. Quinlan, one of the 17, said the contract offer does not provide sufficient pay in-

He declined to give details of the contract other than to say it provides some increases for lower grades of workers and work rule improvements that were not included in earlier offers.

Three-Week Slide Ends In Market

New York (AP) — The stock market broke free from the grip of a three-week slide with a vigorous technical rally Friday, recouping some of the ground it had lost in its worst month of

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rebounded 21.74 to 678.58 for its best gain since Aug. 7, when it jumped 23.78 on the eve of Richard M. Nixon's resignation as president.

Friday's advance trimmed the tion. Dow's loss for August to 78.85, but it was still the poorest monthly showing by the widely watched indicator since last November.

In that 30-day span, the average tumbled 144 points as the nation confronted the energy crisis.

There were 1,116 gainers and only 338 losers among the 1,777 issues changing hands on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume was a relatively active total of 16.23 million shares. Analysts said the market had been poised for an upward bounce after the steady pounding that had chopped 140 points from the Dow since the Aug. 7 "The market had had such a drastic drop in such a short space of time it was due for a rebound," said Eldon A. Grimm at Birr, Wilson & Co.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve's weekly report on credit conditions showed that the growth of the money supply had been slowing lately - the result that the Fed's restrictive policy is aiming for.

Yields on an important short term money market instrument, Treasury bills, meanwhile pulled back considerably. And there were published reports Friday morning that the Fed had chosen to ease up a notch on the credit reins with an eye to averting any serious economic slump in the months ahead.

Pan American World Airways, the NYSE volume leader for the third straight day, was up 1/8 at 21/8 in trading that included a 250,000-share block at 2.

Glamour growth issues, significant losers in the recent slide, bounced back with broad gains. Eastman Kodak rose 41/8 to 801/8, for example, Burroughs added 41/4 to 811/8, Merck & Co. was up 3 at 63½, and Johnson and Johnson gained 4 to 85%.

But many other sectors of the market shared in the advance. Getty Oil, up 7 at 110, and Atlantic Richfield, ahead 23/8 at 81<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>, led a broad gain in the oils.

General Motors rebounded 23/8 401/s, and Ford Motor was up 21/2 at 393/4 among the autos.

In the transportation sector, TWA was up 13/8 at 75/8, and Delta Airlines rose 15/8 to 367/8. Magnavox, target of an $8-a-

Douglas County Deputy Said Beaten, Robbed complaint.

Omaha (AP) - Douglas County authorities are investigating an incident early Friday in which an off-duty Douglas County deputy was beaten and robbed by two men.

Sheriff Ted Janing said the deputy, Robert Scott, 47, left duty about midnight and went to _ a second job.

cond job at about 2 a.m., Scott said he stopped to give assistance to a man who appeared to be injured. ❷●13 ETV Amer. Highlands

On his way home from the se-

When Scott approached, the man drew a gun and forced the deputy into the car, according to Janing. Scott told investigators the man drove for a short time, then met another man, who also got into the auto.

From there, the men drove to northern Douglas County or southern Washington County where the alleged assault took place. Scott said he was beaten with brass knuckles and robbed of about $30.

When the two men tried to put Scott in the trunk of the car, the deputy pulled his service revolver, and the men fled. Scott. was treated for bruises at a local hospital, then released.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?"

Second Psalms and Acts 4:25

"SO ABSOLOM STOLE THE HEARTS OF THE MEN OF ISRAEL!" 2nd Sam. 15:6.

salom for his beauty: from the sole of his foot even to the crown of his head, there was no blemish in him." 2nd Sa. 14.25. But the hearts of the men of Israel belonged to their great King David, the man Sacred Scripture calls "A man after God's heart." According to our appraisal King David is certainly not a man

"after the heart" of most professing Christians. Once upon a time I overheard two friends, both probably considered by others and themselves as "sound in the faith," talking about David. One remarked David did some things that seemed mighty strange to him. On first thought I rather agreed, but on second thought I decided I better keep my thoughts and mouth shut regarding David. Will mention one or two of these second thoughts: When God Almighty turns the light of His Holiness on all my life as His Word does on David's life. on my deeds, actions, thoughts, ambitions, jealousies, coveteousnesses, etc., - and that time is coming, and might be nearby expect David might look at my record and say it seemed to him that I did some "strange things," especially concerning my lack of repentance, restitution, and fruit worthy of repentance! David would doubtless consider our doings "strange" concerning our lack of courage to fight present day "lions, bears, Goliaths and other Uncircumcised Philistines of apostacy, crime, rape, adultery, sex abnormalities, etc.!" Did you know that The Bible says that in only "one" thing David turned aside from that which God commanded him?-1st Kings 15:5. Probably most of the things David did that seem so strange to us today if we knew and believed God's Word and Judgements, we would understand that he was obeying and carrying out God's orders, which we rage at and reject today! The hearts of the men of Israel belonged to King David. God raised him up to deliver them from all their enemies. His great military victories brought them liberty, peace, and prosperity, and made him the idol of the nation. However, they got deceived, believed a lie, with the result of the damnation of civil war and great slaughter

We all attention to 2nd Thessalonians 2:11 & 12, where we are told God sent a delusion to folks who loved unrighteousness that they might believe a lie and be damned. "And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie; That they all might be damned who believed not the truth but had pleasure in un-

Absalom was the third son of The Great King David. He was the best looking man in the whole nation, maybe of men and women. The Great King's Son. "idol of the eyes." stole the hearts of the damned with civil war! How did he manage to accomplish this stupendous task, and turn the nation against their deliverer and national hero? The 15th chapter of 2nd Samuel tells the story: The hero's son, winner of all the beauty prizes, idol of the eyes -

"beatles and teenagers!" And he got up early in the morning to "strut his sutif?" He did not "waste his gas" riding about in felly and foolishness. No. indeed! With these fifty men running ahead of his chariot he charged down to the city gate to make war on "poverty, injustice, and uphold civil rights!" My! How he did love the people. justice, and "what have you!" When folks came up to the Capital City to see The King, he introduced himself - without needing any, being a Royal Prince, and inquired about their controversy: "See thy matters are good and right: but there is no man deputed by The King to hear thee. Absolom said moreover, Oh, that I were judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice! And so it was, that when any man came nigh to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and hissed him -imagine getting a kiss from a Royal Prince, and the best Jooking person in the land, to book! "And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel" - Jew, Gentile, Barbarian, rich and poor. He kept this

The New Deal, The Fair Deal, The New Frontier, The Great Society, are not new wrinkles! Absalom started a Great Society about 3,000 years ago. So will all Societies end that steal men's hearts from

The King of Kings, The Lord Jesus Christ, God's Word and Precepts! Even Judas Iscarriot showed concern about the poor - the waste of money on ointment for Christ that might have been given to the poor! What effect does our concern for the poor have on our "own" pocketbook and bank account? God is not deceived?

Douglas County Deputy Said Beaten, Robbed complaint.

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County authorities are investigating an incident early Friday in which an off-duty Douglas County deputy was beaten and robbed by two men.

Sheriff Ted Janing said the deputy, Robert Scott, 47, left duty about midnight and went to a second job.

On his way home from the second job at about 2 a.m., Scott said he stopped to give assistance to a man who appeared to be injured. DG13 ETV Amer. Highlands

> When Scott approached, the man drew a gun and forced the deputy into the car, according to Janing. Scott told investigators the man drove for a short time. then met another man, who also got into the auto.

> From there, the men drove to northern Douglas County or southern Washington County where the alleged assault took place. Scott said he was beaten with brass knuckles and robbed of about $30.

When the two men tried to put Scott in the trunk of the car, the deputy pulled his service revolver, and the men fled. Scott was treated for bruises at a local hospital, then released.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?"

Second Psalms and Acts 4:25

"SO ABSOLOM STOLE THE HEARTS OF THE MEN OF ISRAEL!" 2nd Sam. 15:6. 'But in all Israel there was none to be so much praised as Ab-

salom for his beauty; from the sole of his foot even to the crown of his head, there was no blemish in him." 2nd Sa. 14.25. But the hearts of the men of Israel belonged to their great King David, the man Sacred Scripture calls "A man after God's heart." According to our appraisal King David is certainly not a man

"after the heart" of most professing Christians. Once upon a time I overheard two friends, both probably considered by others and themselves as "sound in the faith," talking about David. One remarked David did some things that seemed mighty strange to him. On first thought I rather agreed, but on second thought I decided I better keep my thoughts and mouth shut regarding David. Will mention one or two of these second thoughts: When God Almighty turns the light of His Holiness on all my life as His Word does on David's life, on my deeds, actions, thoughts, ambitions, jealousies, coveteousnesses, etc., — and that time is coming, and might be nearby — expect David might look at my record and say it seemed to him that I did some "strange things," especially concerning my lack of repentance, restitution, and fruit worthy of repentance! David would doubtless consider our doings "strange" concerning our lack of courage to fight present day "lions, bears, Goliaths and other Uncircumcised Philistines of apostacy, crime, rape, adultery, sex abnormalities, etc.!" Did you know that The Bible says that in only "one" thing David turned aside from that which God commanded him?-1st Kings 15:5. Probably most of the things David did that seem so strange to us today if we knew and believed God's Word and Judgements, we would understand that he was obeying and carrying out God's orders, which we rage at and reject today!

The hearts of the men of Israel belonged to King David. God raised him up to deliver them from all their enemies. His great military victories brought them liberty, peace, and prosperity, and made him the idol of the nation. However, they got deceived, believed a lie, with the result of the damnation of civil war and great slaughter among the people.

We all attention to 2nd Thessalonians 2:11 & 12, where we are told God sent a delusion to folks who loved unrighteousness that they might believe a lie and be damned. "And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie; That they all might be damned who believed not the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

Absalom was the third son of The Great King David. He was the best looking man in the whole nation, maybe of men and women. The Great King's Son, "idol of the eyes," stole the hearts of the men of Israel, deceived them, caused them to believe a lie, and to be damned with civil war! How did he manage to accomplish this stupendous task, and turn the nation against their deliverer and national hero? The 15th chapter of 2nd Samuel tells the story The hero's son, winner of all the beauty prizes, idol of the eyes - especially that "head of hair," got himself horses and chariots, and fifty men to run before him - imagine that sight and its effect on the beatles and teenagers!" And he got up early in the morning to "strut his sutff!" He did not "waste his gas" riding about in folly and foolishness. No, indeed! With these fifty men running ahead of his chariot he charged down to the city gate to make war on "poverty, injustice, and uphold civil rights!" My! How he did love the people, justice, and "what have you!" When folks came up to the Capital City to see The King, he introduced himself — without needing any, being a Royal Prince, and inquired about their controversy: "See thy matters are good and right: but there is no man deputed by The King to hear thee. Absolom said moreover, Oh, that I were judge in the land, that every man which hath any suit or cause might come unto me, and I would do him justice! And so it was, that when any man came nigh to do him obeisance, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him"-imagine getting a kiss from a Royal Prince, and the best looking person in the land, to boot! "And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel" - Jew, Gentile, Barbarian, rich and poor. He kept this up for years, stole the hearts of the men of Israel from The Man After God's Heart, and the nation was damned with civil war!

The New Deal, The Fair Deal, The New Frontier, The Great Society, are not new wrinkles! Absalom started a Great Society about 3,000 years ago. So will all Societies end that steal men's hearts from The King of Kings, The Lord Jesus Christ, God's Word and Precepts!

Even Judas Iscariot showed concern about the poor — the waste of money on ointment for Christ that might have been given to the poor! What effect does our concern for the poor have on our "own" pocketbook and bank account? God is not deceived!

Black Shirt Post 'A True Dream'

By RANDY YORK

To Mike Fultz, wearing a Black Shirt in Nebraska football practices these past five days has been "almost like living in a dream."

Fultz, the sophomore defensive tackie from Lincoln High, says "I felt like a little kid inside, but couldn't let if out" when he read his name on the No. 1 defensive unit before last Monday's practice.

"I've always dreamed about playing football for Nebraska and for the first time, I really sensed it," Fultz related after Friday's practice in the rain. "Everyone strives to wear a Black Shirt," according to Fultz, who adds: "When you put one on, you find out why. It's the pride behind it."

Fultz, the 1973 Sunday Journal and Star prep Athlete of the Year, earned that proud feeling through months of dedica-

He worked a construction job from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. all summer, but never missed a day of working out, lifting weights and running.

"Running always has been one of my hardest things to do," admits the 6-5, 255pound Fultz. "But I knew I had to do it to improve."

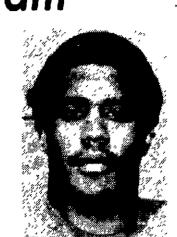

Improvement is still the biggest work in Fultz's vocabulary. Now that he's achieved Black Shirt status "I have to give that much more to improve. There isn't one phase of playing tackle that I'm perfect at. I need to improve on everything.

"If I don't improve, I won't be around very long," adds Fultz, "because anyone who thinks he can stay in one spot and not get caught isn't thinking right."

It's been one gigantic leap for Fultz since graduating from Lincoln High 15 months ago. As a senior, he played fullback and linebacker.

His adjustment to tackle has impressed Nebraska head coach Tom Osborne.

"Mike has great physical tools. He runs a :04.7 in the 40," acknowledges Osborne. "He's not just big and fast. He's a good athlete with good agility. And he's sure the kind of guy you like to have around."

Mike Fultz

Osborne, however, would like to have more wingbacks around. The Cornhusker backfield situation became even more critical Friday.

Columbus junior Tom Heiser, whose been running with the No. 1 offense all week at wingback for injured Ritch Bahe, will see only limited action in Nebraska's heavy Saturday afternoon scrimmage because of a shoulder injury.

Therefore, according to Osborne, senior Don Westbrook will be pressed into heavy wingback duty, although he's also sharing the top I-back spot with John

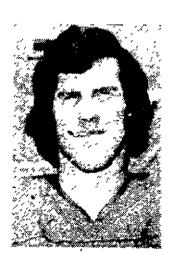

The depleted wingback corps also will dictate varsity appearances in the scrimmage for sophomore Mike McWhorter and freshman Darrell Walton.

Saturday's scrimmage, closed to the public, will be Nebraska's biggest of fall camp after the Big Eight Conference Skywriters invade Memorial Stadium Saturday morning for interviews.

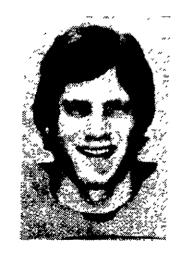

Osborne hopes "to incorporate some of our kicking game into the scrimmage." The contact session will open with the No. 1 offense against the No. 3 defense, armed with opening opponent Oregon's pitcher in modern major league history to record 300 or more strikeouts in three consecutive seasons and Frank Robinson hit two homers and a triple Friday night to lead the California Angels to a 9-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The No. 3 offense, also working Oregon plays, then will battle the Black Shirts. The last two-thirds of the scrimmage will match the No. 2 offense against the No. 2 defense. Then, it'll be No. 1 against No. 1 and No. 3 against No. 3.

Ryan got his record-breaking 300th strikeout by fanning Mike Hegan to open the fourth inning. He fanned nine overall and allowed seven hits and four walks in posting his 17th win against 14 losses.

The old modern strikeout record was shared by Rube Waddell, 1903-04, and Sandy Koufax, 1965-66. Before the turn of the century Amos Rusie of the New York Giants had three consecutive 300-strikeout seasons from 1890-92.

Robinson, who drove in four runs and scored three times, hit his first homer with Dave Chalk.

season and 571st of his career in the seventh after Bob Valentine walked. In the third Robinson tripled and scored on Ellie Rodriguez' sacrifice fly.

In other games, Minnesota edged Boston 3-2, Oakland downed Detroit 6-6, New Yok stopped Chicago 8-5, Cleveland topped Texas 7-3 and Baltimore trimmed Kansas City 9-2.

while Reggie Jackson added a two-run homer, leading the A's over the Tigers. Three errors in the seventh inning helped the Yankees to four unearned rups and a comefrombehind victory over the White Sox. The triumph was New York's eighth in their last nine games and moved the Yankees to within four games of firstplace Boston in the American League East.

Thurman Munson had two sacrifice flies and the Yankees' total of three in the game boosted the New York season total to 57, a team record.

Los Angeles (UPI) - Bob Robertson doubled in the goahead run with one out as the Pittsburgh Pirates scored three times in the eighth inning Friday night to pin a 4-3 defeat on Mike Marshall and the Los Angeles Dodgers in the battle of divisional leaders.

The Pirates' come-from-behind win enabled them to move a game and a half ahead of second-place St. Louis in the National League East. The Dodgers, who blew an early 3-0 lead, failed to capitalize on Cincinnati's loss to Montreal and remained just 3 1/2 games ahead of the second place Reds.

Lefthander Jim Rooker went 8 1-3 innings to even his record at 10-10. Rooker, who was tagged for 10 hits, was lifted in favor of Dave Giusti in the ninth after giving up a pair of singles and the Pirates' ace reliever came in to retire the next two batters to end the game.

Graham Leads Golf Tourney

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lou Graham, a winner only twice in 10 years on the tour, shot his second straight 67 Friday for a 10under-par 134 and a one stroke lead at the halfway point of the first Tournament Players Cham-

J. C. Snead, who tied the course record with a 64 in Thursday's weather-plagued round, managed only a 71 Friday but that kept him within a shot of the lead and ahead of the remainder of a charging, parbusting brigade. Dave Hill, whose 66 was the best round of the day, was another stroke back at eight-under-par 136.

Jack Nicklaus, who holed out a 70-foot birdie putt but had to settle for a one-under 71, Hubert Green, with a 67 after birdying his last three holes, and Australian Bruce Crampton, who canned an eagle on the final hole for a 68, were deadlocked at Arnold Palmer and Master's and British Open champion Gary Player failed to make the 36-hole cut. It took at least a 2over par 146 to make it, as the field was cut to 72 players for the final two rounds. Player shot a 75 for a 148 and Palmer struggled in with a 78 for a 151.

Johnny Miller, winner of six tournaments and in contention here with a first round 70, was excused from further play when the intense heat forced him to retire after playing 16 holes. Jerry Heard, who like Graham and about one third of the field had to finish his first round Friday before starting the second because of Thursday's menacing thunderstorms, stayed within reach of the leaders with a 73 despite a double bogev. Heard was in a group at 138, six under par. PGA champion Lee Trevino shot a 70 for a 139, along with Bobby Mitchell (73) and Mark Hayes (68).

One of a Series By RANDY YORK

Prep Sports Editor Frank Solich may have gained his football reputation on offense as a player. But as a coach, he's known as one of the state's best defensive tacticians.

Solich, the former Cornhusker fullback standout in his seventh vear as head coach at Lincoln Southeast, has learned to like defense.

"When I first started coaching (at Omaha Holy Name) it was just the opposite. I was totally offensive-oriented," he recalls.

"But I've learned to love the defensive part of football," Solich says. "It appeals to me because you can keep it fairly simple to work well. It's a matter of aggressiveness and technique.

"Our whole coaching staff at Southeast has really worked on people's technique and getting them to be aggressive. That's why we've had a successful defensive record," analyzes

Although the Knights were 4-4-1 last year, they finished with the best defensive record in the state Class A ranks.

Lincoln Plus X was the only team scoring more than one touchdown against Southeast last season. The Knights yielded only 53 points (5.9 per game) and shut out fourth-ranked North Platte and seventh-ranked Lincoln East.

Nine of the starters from that defense have graduated. But the one who made it what it was, allstate middle guard Kelvin Roehrs, makes Solich's rebuilding job easier.

"I may be proven wrong, but I expect another very good defensive team this year," offers Solich. "We're quicker than we've been in quite awhile. We spots." Solich doesn't plan to be weak

offensively either with seven returning starters, including standout quarterback Tim

"We've approached fall practice differently this year," according to Solich. "We're not putting in nearly as many things early. Slowing things down has given our backs and linemen good coordination of timing. "Our attitude is as good, if not - better than it's ever been since I've been here," adds Solich. "I've been extremely impressed with the senior leadership. That's where it's got to come from." " Southeast's tentative starting lineup after two weeks of practice includes:

Offense: quarterback - Hager; tullback — Dick Meginnis; slot back — Randy Foster; halfback — Ron Rech; tight end — Dave Hassebroek; split end — Randy Clements; tackles — Ken Knox and Roehrs; guards — Tom Goldsmith and Dava Gray, center — Dava and Doug Gray; center - Dave Defense: ends — Jim Zilly and Gray; tackles — Knox and Dave Slagle, middle guard — Roehrs; linebackers - Hassebroek and Don Pegler or Goldsmith; cornerbacks Ardell Brame and Greg Prochaska; safeties — Foster and Clements.

Black Shirt Post 'A True Dream'

By RANDY YORK

To Mike Fultz, wearing a Black Shirt in Nebraska football practices these past five days has been "almost like living in a

Fultz, the sophomore defensive tackle from Lincoln High, says "I felt like a little kid inside, but couldn't let if out" when he read his name on the No. 1 defensive unit before last Monday's practice.

"I've always dreamed about playing football for Nebraska and for the first time, I really sensed it," Fultz related after Friday's practice in the rain.

"Everyone strives to wear a Black Shirt," according to Fultz, who adds: "When you put one on, you find out why. It's the pride behind it."

Fultz, the 1973 Sunday Journal and Star prep Athlete of the Year, earned that proud feeling through months of dedica-

He worked a construction job from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. all summer, but never missed a day of working out, lifting weights and running

"Running always has been one of my hardest things to do," admits the 6-5, 255pound Fultz. "But I knew I had to do it to improve.

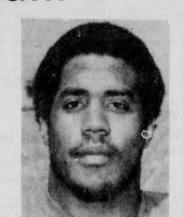

Improvement is still the biggest work in Fultz's vocabulary. Now that he's achieved Black Shirt status "I have to give that much more to improve. There isn't one phase of playing tackle that I'm perfect at. I need to improve on everything.

"If I don't improve, I won't be around very long," adds Fultz, "because anyone who thinks he can stay in one spot and not get caught isn't thinking right.'

It's been one gigantic leap for Fultz since graduating from Lincoln High 15 months ago. As a senior, he played fullback and linebacker.

His adjustment to tackle has impressed Nebraska head coach Tom

"Mike has great physical tools. He runs a:04.7 in the 40," acknowledges Osborne. "He's not just big and fast. He's a good athlete with good agility. And he's sure the kind of guy you like to have around."

Mike Fultz

Osborne, however, would like to have more wingbacks around. The Cornhusker backfield situation became even more critical Friday.

Columbus junior Tom Heiser, whose been running with the No. 1 offense all week at wingback for injured Ritch Bahe. will see only limited action in Nebraska's heavy Saturday afternoon scrimmage because of a shoulder injury.

Therefore, according to Osborne, senior Don Westbrook will be pressed into heavy wingback duty, although he's also sharing the top I-back spot with John

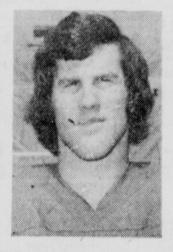

The depleted wingback corps also will dictate varsity appearances in the scrimmage for sophomore Mike McWhorter and freshman Darrell Walton.

Saturday's scrimmage, closed to the public, will be Nebraska's biggest of fall camp after the Big Eight Conference Skywriters invade Memorial Stadium Saturday morning for interviews.

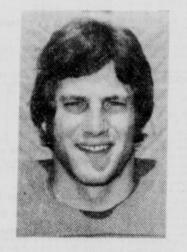

Osborne hopes "to incorporate some of our kicking game into the scrimmage.' The contact session will open with the No. 1 offense against the No. 3 defense, armed with opening opponent Oregon's

The No. 3 offense, also working Oregon plays, then will battle the Black Shirts. The last two-thirds of the scrimmage will match the No. 2 offense against the No. 2 defense. Then, it'll be No. 1 against No. 1 and No. 3 against No. 3.

Ryan Posts 300th Strikeout

By United Press International Nolan Ryan became the first pitcher in modern major league history to record 300 or more strikeouts in three consecutive seasons and Frank Robinson hit two homers and a triple Friday night to lead the California Angels to a 9-2 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ryan got his record-breaking 300th strikeout by fanning Mike Hegan to open the fourth inning. He fanned nine overall and allowed seven hits and four walks in posting his 17th win against 14 losses.

The old modern strikeout record was shared by Rube Waddell, 1903-04, and Sandy Koufax, 1965-66. Before the turn of the century Amos Rusie of the New York Giants had three consecutive 300-strikeout seasons from 1890-92.

Knights' Solich

By RANDY YORK Prep Sports Editor

Frank Solich may have gained his football reputation on offense as a player. But as a coach, he's known as one of the state's best defensive tacticians.

Solich, the former Cornhusker fullback standout in his seventh year as head coach at Lincoln Southeast, has learned to like

'When I first started coaching (at Omaha Holy Name) it was just the opposite. I was totally offensive-oriented," he recalls.

"But I've learned to love the defensive part of football," Solich says. "It appeals to me because you can keep it fairly simple to work well. It's a matter of aggressiveness and technique.

"Our whole coaching staff at Southeast has really worked on people's technique and getting them to be aggressive. That's why we've had a successful defensive record," analyzes

Although the Knights were 4-4-1 last year, they finished with the best defensive record in the state Class A ranks.

Lincoln Pius X was the only team scoring more than one touchdown against Southeast last season. The Knights yielded only 53 points (5.9 per game) and shut out fourth-ranked North Platte and seventh-ranked Lincoln East.

Nine of the starters from that defense have graduated. But the one who made it what it was, allstate middle guard Kelvin Roehrs, makes Solich's rebuilding job easier.

"I may be proven wrong, but I expect another very good defensive team this year," offers Solich. "We're quicker than we've been in quite awhile. We don't expect to have any weak spots.

Solich doesn't plan to be weak offensively either with seven returning starters, including standout quarterback Tim

"We've approached fall practice differently this year," according to Solich. "We're not putting in nearly as many things early. Slowing things down has given our backs and linemen good coordination of timing.

"Our attitude is as good, if not better than it's ever been since I've been here," adds Solich. "I've been extremely impressed with the senior leadership. That's where it's got to come from.

Southeast's tentative starting lineup after two weeks of practice includes:

Offense: quarterback — Hager; fullback — Dick Meginnis; slot back - Randy Foster; halfback -Ron Rech; tight end — Dave Hassebroek; split end — Randy Clements; tackles — Ken Knox and Roehrs; guards — Tom Goldsmith and Doug Gray; center - Dave

Connors, Smith Gain In U.S. Open's Rounds

- Top seeded Jimmy Connors, his shot-making rusty after an enforced six day layoff, and Stan Smith, who shares the No. 1 spot with him in the U.S. rankings, Friday stumbled into the second round of the U.S. Open tennis championships which were again hit by rain.

Connors, a victim of a stomach upset last Sunday, struggled to a 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5 victory over Jeff Borowiak, while Smith, the third seed, fluttered with elimination before beating Chilean Davis Cupper Jaimie Fillol. 3-6. 6-3, 5-7, 7-5, 7-6.

While Connors and Smith fiddled and fussed their way through first round matches, defending champion and second seed, John Newcombe of Australia, beat Russia's Teimuraz Kakulia, 7-6, 6-2, 6-2 in a second round match.

Connors, 21, asked for a oneday postponement for his first round match but ended up taking 2 1/2 days to complete it and when he hoisted a lob on match point to register his victory, play was called off for the day to the disappointment of the crowd of 12,054. It was the third straight day rain had caused an early finish to this $271,760 championship.

Connors, winner of the Wimbledon, Australian and South African titles this year, appeared sharp and on top of his game during the first two sets when one break was all he needed to go ahead. But after two breaks for rain, one of 35 minutes, his form deserted him and unforced errors flowed from his racket as he slipped on the damp grass.

He was broken 5-3 in the third set just before the rain sent the players scurrying for cover, and had to come back from 0-2 in the fourth before he knotted the set at 4-4. He broke through in the 12th game for set and match after Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif., had reached 40-0.

Other seeds to advance during a curtailed day's play were eighth seeded Arthur Ashe of Miami, 7-6, 7-5, 6-2 over Vitas Gerulaitais of Howard Beach, N.Y.; Guillermo Vitas, the ninth choice from Argentina, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 over Mike Machette of Hollywood, Calif.; 11th seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 over Britain's John Lloyd, and 16th pick Raul Ramirez of Mexico, 7-6, 7-6, 7-6 over Bill Brown of Omaha,

The women's singles lost third seeded Olga Morozova when the Russian, defeated by Chris Evert in the French and Wimbledon finals, withdrew because of an injured right ankle she hurt at Newport last week.

Moving into the second round was fifth seeded Evonne Goolagong of Australia, 6-1, 6-2 over Tina Zwann of The Netherlands while eighth seeded Lesley Hunt of Australia defeated Kazuko Sawanatsu of Japan 6-4, 7-5 in a first round

Curtis Offers GOP Candidates State Fair Portion Of Leftover '72 Funds

By DON WALTON

Star Staff Writer A portion of the $32,000 in campaign funds left over from 'Sen. Carl Curtis' 1972 Senate campaign will be offered to this year's Republican nominees for Congress and governor.

Curtis has written letters to the nominees advising their campaign finance committees to contact his finance committee if they want some financial assistance, according to the Funds would go to gubernatorial nominee Richard Marvel and his running mate, Anne Batchelder, Congressmen Charles Thone and John McCollister and congressional nominee Mrs. Haven Smith.

Thus far, there has been no decision on how much of the $32,000 would be made available to them, Shasteen said.

Curtis has indicated that he wants the money used to help senator's administrative assis- elect GOP candidates, not for paign, he noted.

party administrative expenses, Shasteen noted.

The 1972 funds have been held in interest-bearing trust accounts for two years.

Curtis' decision to distribute the money has no significance in terms of whether he will seek another Senate term in 1978, Shasteen said.

The senator also distributed surplus funds — a much smaller amount - from his 1966 cam-

State Land Rental Remains Same

To Meet In Kearney The Nebraska Public Health Association will hold its midyear conference in Kearney Sept. 20, it was announced

The conference will center on "Community Health Needs in Nebraska."

The projects gaining board attention Friday included land leveling, conservation work (terracing and waterways, for example) and casing for irrigation wells, dispersed throughout the state. The State Department of Administrative Services must let bids for contracts on the projects, subject to final board approval for the allocations,

Curtis Offers GOP Candidates State Fair Portion Of Leftover '72 Funds

By DON WALTON Star Staff Writer

A portion of the $32,000 in campaign funds left over from Sen. Carl Curtis' 1972 Senate campaign will be offered to this year's Republican nominees for Congress and governor.

Curtis has written letters to the nominees advising their campaign finance committees to contact his finance committee if they want some financial assistance, according to the tant, Don Shasteen. Funds would go to gubernatorial nominee Richard Marvel and his running mate, Anne Batchelder, Congressmen Charles Thone and John McCollister and congressional nominee Mrs. Haven Smith.

Thus far, there has been no decision on how much of the $32,000 would be made available to them, Shasteen said.

Curtis has indicated that he wants the money used to help senator's administrative assis- elect GOP candidates, not for paign, he noted.

party administrative expenses, Shasteen noted.

The 1972 funds have been held in interest-bearing trust accounts for two years.

Curtis' decision to distribute the money has no significance in terms of whether he will seek another Senate term in 1978, Shasteen said.

Agnew Selling Land To Arabs

Annapolis, Md. (UPI) Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is acting as a developer's agent in an effort to sell a 1,600 acre tract of Kentucky land to oil-rich Arab investors, it was reported Friday.

The Annapolis Evening Capital said Agnew represents developer Walter Dilbeck of Evansville, Ind., who has an option on 1,600 acres of undeveloped forest land near Eddyville, Ky., on the eastern shore of Lake Barkley.
